This programme is led by faculty from GIC, a global long-term investor that manages Singapore's foreign reserves. It is designed to provide participants with a comprehensive understanding of various investment strategies across different asset classes.

The ultimate goal of this programme is to help participants understand how to achieve good long-term returns. Participants will analyse and apply insights from selected GIC case studies.

At the end of the programme, participants will be able to:

- Understand the real-world challenges and opportunities of investing for the long term
- Develop a discerning perspective across asset classes guided by long-term orientation, while navigating through market cycles and investment paradigms
- Assess key investment decisions such as implementation, divestment and portfolio construction across traditional and alternative investments
- Apply key frameworks, tools and techniques for investment decision-making

Who should attend
